

Message from the CEO of Adaptive Wireless Solutions

Bruce Thompson

We are pleased to announce the formation of Adaptive Wireless Solutions L.L.C. (AWS). Our company was founded based on the need for a solutions based company in the traditional and wireless industrial process area. We will deliver customer solutions of wired and wireless technologies, originally developed by Adaptive Instruments Company, creator of Accutech branded wireless instrumentation products. Accutech has been a world leader in the wireless business for many years. Our staff is comprised of the same engineers, managers, technical support and production personnel you have come to count on for your application specific solutions. With a vision to the future, AWS will implement and deliver solutions utilizing Accutech Enabled™ products and engineer, develop, and implement products for Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEM) with traditional and wireless solutions.

We thank you, our clients for your support of this new venture and pledge a commitment to bring honesty, integrity, reliability and support that you have come to expect and a future of excitement and advancements in our business.

It is with great pleasure that we introduce AWS. We look forward to serving your business needs.

Adaptive Wireless Solutions LLC

Bruce H Thompson
CEO